UnchARTed Gallery hosted an event for Lowell Loves to Learn's BookNook project, which aims to bring a book to all young children in Lowell via BookNooks made by UTEC. Above from left, Samantha
